OIL PAINTINGS By Marcia R. Miller

Her style would be considered naïve where humor and child-likeness show through the color and form of subject matter. Her form and color are akin to Matisse and sometimes Toulouse Lautrec. Although her formal education included study under thirteen art professors from three institutions, the classical art training seems to have been discarded in favor of play.

Her show will run through November at Abbott Tract Artists, 31 San Marco, 829-2934. Thursday through Sunday from noon until 6 PM and by appointment.

MISSING VIDEO TAPES

Richard French loaned us two video tapes of the Florida Watercolor Society show entries for 1993 and 1994 about a year ago. They are missing. The tapes are labeled as follows:

Florida Watercolor Society
Twenty-second Annual Exhibition—1993
Old School Square
Delray Beach, FL

Florida Watercolor Society
Twenty-third Annual Exhibition—1994
Deland Museum of Art
Deland, FL

Apparently someone borrowed these tapes and forgot to return them. If you have them or know of their whereabouts, please return them to our director.

We have some exciting new artists this Thanksgiving weekend: From rope sculptures to beer can airplanes constructed by a retired aeronautical engineer, to children's clothing, to incredible photography, and beautiful art. Plus a Kid Zone and a UPS store for your convenience. You can ship right from the Festival. We have it all! Bring your visitors, stay for lunch, but please support our major fund raiser. We have more food vendors this year, and our hospitality tent will be there for you to sit in comfort.

You still have time to volunteer—and you are needed. Contact Jeralyn Lowe (386) 517-6829
